

December News

I can't believe that it's already December! We have been working on some amazing projects in all subject areas. The students have really been modeling how to be great leaders in our school community. We have also been working on building community in our class and will continue to do so throughout this month and into the new year. Baking was a real hit with all the students and we will continue to bake and create over the next few weeks.

What we're learning:

Math: Data Management and Measurement will be our focus over the next few weeks.

Writing: We are working on building our word choice and adding more details when we complete our good copies. I've attached the standard for a level 3 and 4 in both Grade 5 and 6 that I've shared with the class.

Reading: We are going to be looking at asking various questions through read alouds' and as well through their literacy circles.

Science and Social Studies: The class is working as groups or alone to create various projects based on the specific grade expectations.

Music: We are continuing to work on analyzing lyrics and finding meaning in songs we listen to.

Drama: Developing our voice and building confidence when presenting.

Media: We are finishing up our focus on an episode on CBC Marketplace. Students were asked to choose an episode and create a power point, brochure, poster or news article based on what they learned.

I continue to be so proud of all the growth I've seen in the entire class. I feel truly blessed in this Advent season to be able to be apart of your child's life. I wish you all good health and happiness over the holidays. Thank you again for all the support this year.
